

Norton's New Store
115 Wyoming Ave.
(Old Re. Union Building.)

Entire New Stock received since the fire, which destroyed all our stock in the old store, Lacka. Ave. Miscellaneous Books, in cloth and leather bindings, single vols. and full sets, suitable for wedding and other gifts.

Choice Stationery for social use.

Mercantile Stationery, all sorts.

School Books and School Stationery.

Blank Account Books, all sizes and all styles, from Penny Book to Bank Ledger.

Bibles, Prayer and Hymn Books.

All the Popular New Books, in cloth and paper covers.

A Foe to Dyspepsia

GOOD BREAD
—USE THE—
SNOW WHITE FLOUR

And always have Good Bread.

MANUFACTURED AND FOR SALE TO THE TRADE BY

The Weston Mill Co.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS

THE GENUINE POPULAR

Punch Cigars

HAVE THE INITIALS

G. B. & Co.

Imprinted on Each Cigar.

Garney, Brown & Co. Mfrs.

COURT HOUSE SQUARE

PERMANENT CURE OF

RUPTURE

New Method. Examination Free.

SCRANTON GERMAN RUPTURE CURE CO.

(LIMITED)

203 WASHINGTON AVE.

PERSONAL.

Miss Bessie Sherer of Madison avenue, a student at Wells college, Aurora, N. Y., has been elected president of the junior class.

Mrs. Le Grand Wright, local delegate to the W. T. U. convention, will leave tomorrow morning for Philadelphia to attend the meetings.

Samuel S. Dermot, director of St. Luke's branch of St. Andrew's brotherhood, will attend the ninth annual convention of the brotherhood at Washington, D. C., today.

The following members of the Scranton poor board left yesterday to attend the state convention of poor directors at York: W. S. Langstaff, Daniel Williams, John Gibbons, P. J. Murphy and were accompanied by Solicitor John F. Scragg.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

(Under this heading short letters of interest will be published when accompanied for publication by the writer's name. The Tribune will not be held responsible for opinions here expressed.)

VERY FORCIBLE TALK.

EDITOR OF THE TRIBUNE:

Sir: In your yesterday's issue you quote a few strong utterances from Father O'Reilly's sermon, delivered at the Cathedral on Sabbath morning. They were brave words, indeed, and sounded like the thunders of the prophets of the olden time. They were not only a denunciation, but a revelation as well.

Is it possible? Is it true, that in many cases the saloon has become the rendezvous of harlotry and the center of the social evil? Is this the fruitage of the license question? After one hundred years of regulation by license, has the saloon gone down to the level of social prostitution? Is this the consummate flower of our happy civilization, that our daughters as well as our sons are enticed into the open saloon, where body and soul are ruined for time and eternity?

So far as this drink evil is concerned, we are running rapidly on the down grade, and I want to thank the rector of St. Peter's cathedral for his timely utterances against the gigantic evil. The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church has declared that the traffic cannot be legalized without sin, and the word of God pronounces "Who unto him that gives his neighbor drink, that putteth the bottle to him and makes him drunken."

When all the pulpits of the land with equal fidelity denounce the evils of the traffic, the saloon with its accessories will have to go.

L. C. FLOYD.
Scranton, Pa., Oct. 9.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of Lackawanna Presbytery will be held in the Green Hedge Presbyterian church today and tomorrow. The first service to be held at 10:30 a. m. today.

Lots! Lots! Lots!!! Lots!!!! Nothing offered in the city like Wood Lawn Park lots. Buy now. Every lot is a bargain.

Buy the Weber and get the best. At Guernsey Bros.

CROOKS GET SIX YEARS

Burglars Receive a Dose of Lackawanna County Justice.

SENTENCED BY JUDGE EDWARDS

Judge Lynch, of Luzerne, Holding Court in No. 2—Verdicts of Conviction Rendered Against Robert Robinson, John M. Burke and Thomas Cavanaugh—Case of Aggravated Assault and Battery Against Fred Peck.

The two crooks, George Smith and Frederick Cotton, who were arraigned on the charges of burglarizing the residence of H. Connell, were found guilty and when court opened yesterday morning the verdict was announced and Judge Edwards ordered the prisoners to be brought before the bar for sentence. The penalty of the court was each pay a fine of $500, costs of court, and serve six years of hard labor in separate and solitary confinement at the Eastern Penitentiary in Philadelphia.

James Foy, who pleaded guilty to stealing chickens from the henney of Bernard McGreevy, of Chinchilla, was sentenced to pay a fine of $100, restore the value of the stolen property and spend six months at the county jail.

Robert Robinson was found guilty of immoral conduct and acquitted of the two other serious charges against him, and John M. Burke, of Dickson, was convicted of keeping a tippling house. Both will be sentenced on Saturday.

Thomas Jordan was sentenced to assault and battery on Frank Heffron and the costs of court were equally divided between prosecutor and defendant.

HE SLAPPED HIS WIFE'S FACE.

Judge Lynch, of Wilkes-Barre, was presiding in district court room No. 2. The first case called was an assault and battery offense, placing Thomas Cavanaugh, of Archbold, in the role of defendant and his wife Hannah as prosecutor.

Mrs. Cavanaugh is a handsome young widow, of spirited temper, and was married to her late lord two years ago. One morning last April while at dinner she furnished desert for the meal in the shape of a collection of rather pointed epithets against the landlord.

Her husband told her shut up, but she paid no heed to him, and at last he threatened to slap her face if she didn't shut up. She armed herself with the frying pan and defied him, and the result was an encounter that ended in her defeat.

The jury found him guilty.

Ezeda Petrack is a Polander and resides at Green Edge. One evening, with a few companions, he paid his respects to the bartenders of several saloons in the central city. Mrs. Anna Paskes alleged that Petrack kicked and assaulted her 4-year-old son who was playing in the street. Her daughter Mary, 13 years of age, told the same story, and she was a bright witness.

Judge Lynch's charge leaned towards the defense, and the jury, after being out a half hour, returned with a verdict of acquittal, but placed one-half the costs on each.

A SHOEMAKER'S TROUBLES.

Fifteen minutes before adjournment Attorney Joseph O'Brien, assisting Mr. O'Neill for the commonwealth, in court room No. 2 opened the case of aggravated assault and battery against Frederick K. Peck, jr., prosecuted by Julius Betzold. Attorney George S. Horn represented the defendant. The prosecutor is an old man and is a shoemaker by trade. He lives at the foot of the mountain on the outskirts of the Twenty-first ward, and his shop is on the West Side.

On May 12 he was returning home at 10 o'clock he met Peck, a young man who does not appear to be able to assault anybody but an old man. Later the plaintiff was overtaken near the Stone Patch, in a handsome spot by Peck, whom he alleges murderously assaulted him.

Dr. Franklin Douglas, of Jackson street, who attended the injured shoemaker, described his condition. According to his testimony, the shoemaker's head was a mass of cuts and bruises and his back and chest were discolored from blows. Upon cross-examination Dr. Douglas admitted that the condition of Betzold might become possible through falls received from being helplessly drunk. With the ending of the doctor's testimony court adjourned.

ALL ABOUT A PLANK

Before Judge Edwards in No. 1 court room the case of William B. Shedd, prosecutor, against George S. Horn, for assault and battery, began before noon and was given to the jury at 4 o'clock. Both men were employed at the Frothingham theater when that structure was in course of completion.

Shedd was a stereo relief finisher and had a large plank that Rooty wanted, and wanted so bad that he used force to possess himself of it. The jury had not agreed on a verdict when court adjourned.

The case of Michael Augustin against Jacob Hirabe was called, but the prosecutor did not appear and the indictment was quashed and the costs placed on Augustin.

HART'S NEW SUCCESS.

O'Neill, Washington, D. C., is Received with Great Favor in Far Away Seattle. Daniel L. Hart, the Wilkes-Barre playwright's latest play, "O'Neill, Washington, D. C.," received its first public presentation at Seattle, Washington, a week ago. The Post Intelligencer says of it:

Seattle last evening was given the honor of passing judgment on the first production on any stage of a new three-act comedy-drama, entitled "O'Neill, Washington, D. C.," from the pen of Daniel L. Hart, a young newspaper man from the mining district of Pennsylvania, and the brilliant audience that filled the Seattle theatre did so with a hearty enthusiasm that left no doubt in the minds of author and players that the verdict was of a character to safely launch the comedy on a career of success and win for the bright young author both fame and fortune. The painstaking care that had been taken to insure a satisfactory first production was made manifest from the first scene; every little detail was perfect, the electrical effects, novel and striking, and the few hitches that did occur were of too insignificant a character to cut any figure in the results, and the final success of the comedy was really fully assured at the close of the first act.

The comedy of "O'Neill, Washington, D. C.," will, in point of literary merit, brilliant and witty dialogues and originality of treatment, rank with the best dramatic productions of the day, and the tears, the laughter and the spontaneous applause that greeted its every scene, and recalled the players over and over, will be musical sounds to the author that will be repeated from one end of the country to the other. To Daniel Sully's deep sympathetic nature and intelligent interpretation of the part of Robert O'Neill, the Irish inventor, "Gray before his time," is largely due the success of the comedy. The part is well fitted to Mr. Sully and Mr. Sully well fitted to the part. He truly the night before, when announcing the play before the

SMITH DID NOT SHOW

Opening of People's Party Campaign at Workingman's Hall.

ADDRESS OF CANDIDATE GRAY

Attorney Cornelius Smith, the Candidate for Congress, Was Not on Hand, but They Worried Along Without Him—Meeting Called to Order by Chairman M. J. Coleman. Small Audience Present.

At the Theaters.

Perhaps the younger generation of theater-goers are not as familiar as their elders with the character of Colonel Mulberry Seller, who is the hero of Mark Twain's great comedy, "The Glided Age." It is many years now since John T. Raymond first created the character, and made the by-word "There's million in it" which was on every one's tongue from the Atlantic to the Pacific. When Raymond died no one believed that the great-hearted, visionary Colonel Seller would ever be a living character upon the stage again, but during the last season Sidney Drew, the youngest and not the least bright of the talented Drew family, has revived "The Glided Age" and is playing it with great success. He was seen here at the Academy of Music this evening, and if the opinions of the critics from Philadelphia and other cities where he has played are to be believed, he will play it in such a manner as to give theater-goers today fully as amusing and entertaining a portrayal of the genius of Sellers as ever did Raymond in his paint-study days.

The greatest laughing success of late years, "Charley's Aunt," will be the attraction in the Academy tomorrow night. There is that state of meriment abroad in which, while the play is in progress, one man begins to laugh, and then another; then the whole house roars, and when it seems literally to tire down, a man who has been sitting here at the Academy of Music this evening, and if the opinions of the critics from Philadelphia and other cities where he has played are to be believed, he will play it in such a manner as to give theater-goers today fully as amusing and entertaining a portrayal of the genius of Sellers as ever did Raymond in his paint-study days.

The opening of the People's party campaign of Lackawanna county at Workingman's hall on the South Side last night, was introduced with a rally about which the most conspicuous feature was the absence of Attorney Cornelius Smith, candidate for congress on the People's ticket, whose name on the programme was set down opposite a speech.

The disappointment felt at the non-appearance of their standard bearer was keen, but nevertheless the campaign was opened.

M. J. Coleman rapped the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock, and said that the principles of the People's party were as broad as the constitution of the United States, and as long as there were 100 men faithful to the cause, the fight would go on to the bitter end. He introduced John Gray, candidate for clerk of the courts.

Mr. Gray said that the People's party was alone in the espousal of the cause of labor, but the party was broad enough to take in the middle class, the rich class, and even the honest millionaire. The Democratic and Republican parties are above the people; the men they elect to represent them forget the people when they get to Harrisburg or Washington. Mr. Gray advocated the government ownership of railroads and said that it would reduce taxation.

A voice from the rear of the hall shouted, "Why don't you talk about the tax on what we eat?"

WANTS THE SURPLUS SPENT.

Taking his cue from the question put to him, Mr. Gray unloaded his mind of a heap of uncompromising criticism on the Democratic party, which he called the party of trusts and monopolies. If the people want the government to own the railroads they can easily accomplish it. The surplus has no business lying idle in the treasury vault for the benefit of the money kings and gold bugs of Wall street.

E. A. Atkinson, candidate for senator, followed Mr. Gray and acquitted himself briefly. He inveighed against boycotts and strikes and advocated the use of the ballot box.

John Goebel, candidate for representative in the Second legislative district, made the closing speech in the German tongue.

The meeting was attended by about 150 men and boys.

FATHER MATHEW'S DAY.

A Review of the Two Parades That Will Take Place Today.

The anniversary of the birth of Father Theobald Matthew, the apostle of temperance, will be fittingly celebrated by the total abstainers of Lackawanna county at Jermy today with a parade of all the temperance societies.

The parade will consist of three divisions, the first commanded by Captain M. J. Quinn, the second by Captain J. H. Duggan and the third by Captain J. J. McGuire. Aids to Grand Marshal M. J. McHale will be chief of staff. J. F. Noone, Scranton; T. J. Mahon, Green Ridge; M. J. Walsh, Forest City; John Joyce, Pine Brook; John Gignea, Carbondale, and M. J. McAndrew, Archbold. The parade will move promptly at 11 o'clock, and after traversing the line of march will break rank at the picnic grounds in Elm Grove. The people of Jermy have labored long and earnestly to provide proper reception to the visiting societies, and the day promises to be long remembered.

The parade of the third and fourth districts, embracing the territory from Minnoka to Hazleton, will be held at Pittston. After the parade a picnic will be held at Oregon Grove.

DUNN BROS. PROTEST.

May Serve an Injunction on the Board of Control.

The action of the board of control in awarding the contract for reversing the grade of the Dix court sewer from the high school lot to Oliver street to

DR. MANLEY'S PAPER.

"Manufacturing Chemists" Read Before the Medical Society.

A meeting of the County Medical society was held at the court house last evening, when there were present Drs. Logan, Burnett, Barnes, Rea, Gates, Ross, Payne, Gunster, Fulton, Manley, Williams, Stein, Thomson, Gardner and Conner.

Dr. J. M. Callender, Olyphant, and S. D. Graver, Jermy, were elected to membership. Dr. Manley read a paper on "Manufacturing Chemists," which was discussed by a large number of the members. The meeting lasted over two hours.

GENTLEMEN'S Driving club races Saturday, 2 o'clock p. m.

PILLSBURY Flour Mills have a capacity of 17,500 barrels a day.

WE HAVE THE STYLES EVERYBODY SAYS SO

If you have not seen them you want to. Then you will be one of the many who have feasted their eyes on our lovely Millinery. New ideas weekly.

Haslach's Millinery,

H. LANGFELD, Successor.

324 Lackawanna Ave.

SMITH DID NOT SHOW

Opening of People's Party Campaign at Workingman's Hall.

ADDRESS OF CANDIDATE GRAY

Attorney Cornelius Smith, the Candidate for Congress, Was Not on Hand, but They Worried Along Without Him—Meeting Called to Order by Chairman M. J. Coleman. Small Audience Present.

At the Theaters.

Perhaps the younger generation of theater-goers are not as familiar as their elders with the character of Colonel Mulberry Seller, who is the hero of Mark Twain's great comedy, "The Glided Age." It is many years now since John T. Raymond first created the character, and made the by-word "There's million in it" which was on every one's tongue from the Atlantic to the Pacific. When Raymond died no one believed that the great-hearted, visionary Colonel Seller would ever be a living character upon the stage again, but during the last season Sidney Drew, the youngest and not the least bright of the talented Drew family, has revived "The Glided Age" and is playing it with great success. He was seen here at the Academy of Music this evening, and if the opinions of the critics from Philadelphia and other cities where he has played are to be believed, he will play it in such a manner as to give theater-goers today fully as amusing and entertaining a portrayal of the genius of Sellers as ever did Raymond in his paint-study days.

The opening of the People's party campaign of Lackawanna county at Workingman's hall on the South Side last night, was introduced with a rally about which the most conspicuous feature was the absence of Attorney Cornelius Smith, candidate for congress on the People's ticket, whose name on the programme was set down opposite a speech.

The disappointment felt at the non-appearance of their standard bearer was keen, but nevertheless the campaign was opened.

M. J. Coleman rapped the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock, and said that the principles of the People's party were as broad as the constitution of the United States, and as long as there were 100 men faithful to the cause, the fight would go on to the bitter end. He introduced John Gray, candidate for clerk of the courts.

Mr. Gray said that the People's party was alone in the espousal of the cause of labor, but the party was broad enough to take in the middle class, the rich class, and even the honest millionaire. The Democratic and Republican parties are above the people; the men they elect to represent them forget the people when they get to Harrisburg or Washington. Mr. Gray advocated the government ownership of railroads and said that it would reduce taxation.

A voice from the rear of the hall shouted, "Why don't you talk about the tax on what we eat?"

WANTS THE SURPLUS SPENT.

Taking his cue from the question put to him, Mr. Gray unloaded his mind of a heap of uncompromising criticism on the Democratic party, which he called the party of trusts and monopolies. If the people want the government to own the railroads they can easily accomplish it. The surplus has no business lying idle in the treasury vault for the benefit of the money kings and gold bugs of Wall street.

E. A. Atkinson, candidate for senator, followed Mr. Gray and acquitted himself briefly. He inveighed against boycotts and strikes and advocated the use of the ballot box.

John Goebel, candidate for representative in the Second legislative district, made the closing speech in the German tongue.

The meeting was attended by about 150 men and boys.

FATHER MATHEW'S DAY.

A Review of the Two Parades That Will Take Place Today.

The anniversary of the birth of Father Theobald Matthew, the apostle of temperance, will be fittingly celebrated by the total abstainers of Lackawanna county at Jermy today with a parade of all the temperance societies.

The parade will consist of three divisions, the first commanded by Captain M. J. Quinn, the second by Captain J. H. Duggan and the third by Captain J. J. McGuire. Aids to Grand Marshal M. J. McHale will be chief of staff. J. F. Noone, Scranton; T. J. Mahon, Green Ridge; M. J. Walsh, Forest City; John Joyce, Pine Brook; John Gignea, Carbondale, and M. J. McAndrew, Archbold. The parade will move promptly at 11 o'clock, and after traversing the line of march will break rank at the picnic grounds in Elm Grove. The people of Jermy have labored long and earnestly to provide proper reception to the visiting societies, and the day promises to be long remembered.

The parade of the third and fourth districts, embracing the territory from Minnoka to Hazleton, will be held at Pittston. After the parade a picnic will be held at Oregon Grove.

DUNN BROS. PROTEST.

May Serve an Injunction on the Board of Control.

The action of the board of control in awarding the contract for reversing the grade of the Dix court sewer from the high school lot to Oliver street to

DR. MANLEY'S PAPER.

"Manufacturing Chemists" Read Before the Medical Society.

A meeting of the County Medical society was held at the court house last evening, when there were present Drs. Logan, Burnett, Barnes, Rea, Gates, Ross, Payne, Gunster, Fulton, Manley, Williams, Stein, Thomson, Gardner and Conner.

Dr. J. M. Callender, Olyphant, and S. D. Graver, Jermy, were elected to membership. Dr. Manley read a paper on "Manufacturing Chemists," which was discussed by a large number of the members. The meeting lasted over two hours.

GENTLEMEN'S Driving club races Saturday, 2 o'clock p. m.

PILLSBURY Flour Mills have a capacity of 17,500 barrels a day.

WE HAVE THE STYLES EVERYBODY SAYS SO

If you have not seen them you want to. Then you will be one of the many who have feasted their eyes on our lovely Millinery. New ideas weekly.

Haslach's Millinery,

H. LANGFELD, Successor.

324 Lackawanna Ave.

SMITH DID NOT SHOW

Opening of People's Party Campaign at Workingman's Hall.

ADDRESS OF CANDIDATE GRAY

Attorney Cornelius Smith, the Candidate for Congress, Was Not on Hand, but They Worried Along Without Him—Meeting Called to Order by Chairman M. J. Coleman. Small Audience Present.

At the Theaters.

Perhaps the younger generation of theater-goers are not as familiar as their elders with the character of Colonel Mulberry Seller, who is the hero of Mark Twain's great comedy, "The Glided Age." It is many years now since John T. Raymond first created the character, and made the by-word "There's million in it" which was on every one's tongue from the Atlantic to the Pacific. When Raymond died no one believed that the great-hearted, visionary Colonel Seller would ever be a living character upon the stage again, but during the last season Sidney Drew, the youngest and not the least bright of the talented Drew family, has revived "The Glided Age" and is playing it with great success. He was seen here at the Academy of Music this evening, and if the opinions of the critics from Philadelphia and other cities where he has played are to be believed, he will play it in such a manner as to give theater-goers today fully as amusing and entertaining a portrayal of the genius of Sellers as ever did Raymond in his paint-study days.

The opening of the People's party campaign of Lackawanna county at Workingman's hall on the South Side last night, was introduced with a rally about which the most conspicuous feature was the absence of Attorney Cornelius Smith, candidate for congress on the People's ticket, whose name on the programme was set down opposite a speech.

The disappointment felt at the non-appearance of their standard bearer was keen, but nevertheless the campaign was opened.

M. J. Coleman rapped the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock, and said that the principles of the People's party were as broad as the constitution of the United States, and as long as there were 100 men faithful to the cause, the fight would go on to the bitter end. He introduced John Gray, candidate for clerk of the courts.

Mr. Gray said that the People's party was alone in the espousal of the cause of labor, but the party was broad enough to take in the middle class, the rich class, and even the honest millionaire. The Democratic and Republican parties are above the people; the men they elect to represent them forget the people when they get to Harrisburg or Washington. Mr. Gray advocated the government ownership of railroads and said that it would reduce taxation.

A voice from the rear of the hall shouted, "Why don't you talk about the tax on what we eat?"

WANTS THE SURPLUS SPENT.

Taking his cue from the question put to him, Mr. Gray unloaded his mind of a heap of uncompromising criticism on the Democratic party, which he called the party of trusts and monopolies. If the people want the government to own the railroads they can easily accomplish it. The surplus has no business lying idle in the treasury vault for the benefit of the money kings and gold bugs of Wall street.

E. A. Atkinson, candidate for senator, followed Mr. Gray and acquitted himself briefly. He inveighed against boycotts and strikes and advocated the use of the ballot box.

John Goebel, candidate for representative in the Second legislative district, made the closing speech in the German tongue.

The meeting was attended by about 150 men and boys.

FATHER MATHEW'S DAY.

A Review of the Two Parades That Will Take Place Today.

The anniversary of the birth of Father Theobald Matthew, the apostle of temperance, will be fittingly celebrated by the total abstainers of Lackawanna county at Jermy today with a parade of all the temperance societies.

The parade will consist of three divisions, the first commanded by Captain M. J. Quinn, the second by Captain J. H. Duggan and the third by Captain J. J. McGuire. Aids to Grand Marshal M. J. McHale will be chief of staff. J. F. Noone, Scranton; T. J. Mahon, Green Ridge; M. J. Walsh, Forest City; John Joyce, Pine Brook; John Gignea, Carbondale, and M. J. McAndrew, Archbold. The parade will move promptly at 11 o'clock, and after traversing the line of march will break rank at the picnic grounds in Elm Grove. The people of Jermy have labored long and earnestly to provide proper reception to the visiting societies, and the day promises to be long remembered.

The parade of the third and fourth districts, embracing the territory from Minnoka to Hazleton, will be held at Pittston. After the parade a picnic will be held at Oregon Grove.

DUNN BROS. PROTEST.

May Serve an Injunction on the Board of Control.

The action of the board of control in awarding the contract for reversing the grade of the Dix court sewer from the high school lot to Oliver street to

DR. MANLEY'S PAPER.

"Manufacturing Chemists" Read Before the Medical Society.

A meeting of the County Medical society was held at the court house last evening, when there were present Drs. Logan, Burnett, Barnes, Rea, Gates, Ross, Payne, Gunster, Fulton, Manley, Williams, Stein, Thomson, Gardner and Conner.

Dr. J. M. Callender, Olyphant, and S. D. Graver, Jermy, were elected to membership. Dr. Manley read a paper on "Manufacturing Chemists," which was discussed by a large number of the members. The meeting lasted over two hours.